This surge in activity also served as a real-world stress test for the Algorand blockchain. With tens of thousands of participants generating nearly 300,000 transactions, the network maintained its performance. Users experienced the platform's "low fees, instant transaction finality and zero transaction failures" firsthand.

Users on Myriad give Polymarket just an 18.3% chance of announcing its token this year, as Decrypt has previously reported the latter is planning to launch its own native crypto token—likely in 2026. (Disclosure: Myriad is a product of DASTAN, Decrypt's parent company.)

In general, both retail and institutional investors continue to focus on buying and holding tokens for price gains rather than staking them. Operating validator nodes requires substantial capital, technical know-how and uninterrupted uptime. It also exposes participants to risks such as slashing penalties and custody challenges. Additionally, in many jurisdictions, the regulatory treatment of staking rewards remains unclear.

They would not provide certain benefits, though, including payments of interest on account balances or overdraft privileges. They might also impose caps on balances, in a bid to control for “various risks to the Federal Reserve and the payment system.”
