The sharp increase reflects HMRC's growing focus on crypto-related tax compliance. Over the past four years, the agency has sent more than 100,000 such letters, with activity accelerating as crypto adoption and asset prices surged.

But not this time. Analysts at the British multinational bank Standard Chartered, who have long been bullish on Bitcoin, don't think it stops here either. Geoff Kendrick, the bank's global head of digital assets, said in an investor note published Friday that he expects the price of Bitcoin to reach at least $135,000 in the near term and top $200,000 before the end of the year.

The story follows founder Griff Green's perspective as the early instantiation of decentralized governance rises, raises $160 million and then, at once, falls victim to a devastating hack.

However, the next bear market will be defined by the business cycle, explained Woo. The last business cycle downturns that really took hold were 2008 and 2001, before crypto markets were invented, he said.

China produces over 90% of the world's rare earth minerals and rare earth magnets used in electronics manufacturing, according to Reuters. The announced export restrictions on rare earths won't just reshape supply chains, but the entire global monetary order, Gromen said.

The aggregate hash rate for the world's largest digital asset was previously concentrated in China. Following the country's ban on Bitcoin mining in May 2021, companies were forced to move elsewhere to set up their operations.
