This cycle has also been complicated by the introduction of trade tariffs, which have already trimmed growth in the first half of 2025 and are expected to continue dragging on GDP growth through the first half of 2026.

While some market observers believe that the traditional crypto four-year cycle is about to be broken, analysts told Decrypt this week that they believe some traders are still following the classic rulebook—and selling due to the expectation of falling prices ahead. That cohort may be partly accounting for crypto's weekly decline, with Bitcoin dropping over 9%, Ethereum falling 6%, and XRP showing a 15% dive—with some altcoins down even worse. Crypto prices plunged last Friday following Presiden...

“Fast forward a few years: Corporate chains will end up with the complex tech but without the added value for users, which is no central entity to control them. At that point, these chains will lose the focus from corporates.”
