They would not provide certain benefits, though, including payments of interest on account balances or overdraft privileges. They might also impose caps on balances, in a bid to control for “various risks to the Federal Reserve and the payment system.”

But despite the optimism around BNB, the world’s largest crypto exchange by trading volume has faced backlash from users in recent weeks over its performance during the market crash.

How trustless is it?

One such campaign is Algotand, a 13-week onchain questing campaign launched by the layer-1 blockchain Algorand to showcase its ecosystem and technical capabilities. The campaign, which began on Sept. 22, has concluded its third week, and the onchain data from its initial phase is now available.

Institutional flows appeared to be front-running this narrative. Spot Bitcoin exchange-traded funds (ETFs) have absorbed nearly $5 billion in net inflows in the first two weeks of October, indicating renewed confidence from large investors.
