The relative strength index or RSI also dropped to its lowest level, matching April's low value of 34, following which BTC started to recover in the charts.

Their gains come after Bitcoin's price rose following a down week in which risk-on assets were buffeted by a re-escalation of U.S.-China trade tensions. On Monday, U.S. President Donald Trump said he would soon meet with China President Xi Jinping.

Define invalidation: Know exactly where you're wrong, and size positions so a failed confirmation is a small loss, not a portfolio event.
