Rob Masiello, the CEO of Sova Labs — a firm focused on building Bitcoin-native infrastructure — said he thinks “corp chains” will be successful and useful for the companies that own and run them.

That state of affairs could now change imminently. Waller’s plan would allow U.S. institutions focused on “payments innovation”—aka, crypto and other emerging financial technologies—to gain their own access to the Fed’s services, as opposed to depending on third-party, master account-holding banks.

It's unclear why World Liberty Financial would have blacklisted the wallet, identified as belonging to Sun by blockchain analytics platforms Arkham and Nansen, for transferring tokens. But it is possible that early investors, like Sun or the Tron DAO, would have received token warrants that prohibit them from selling for a set amount of time.

The rise of NFTs (Non-Fungible Tokens) has brought revolutionary changes to digital content creation and trading. Based on blockchain technology, NFTs ensure the uniqueness and immutability of digital assets, solving the problem of digital content being easily copied. NFTs have a very wide range of application scenarios, including digital art, game items, virtual real estate, music works, etc. The rapid development of the NFT market has attracted the participation of many artists, collectors, and investors, and has also provided creators with new monetization channels. Although there are risks of speculation and bubbles in the NFT market, in the long run, NFTs will inject new vitality into the development of the digital economy.

Wall Street and the crypto world have long operated in separate spaces. While Wall Street was defined by traditional finance and clear regulatory norms, the crypto industry evolved around decentralized systems and shifting regulations. That divide is now narrowing, thanks to the launch of the first publicly traded investment vehicle dedicated to staking cryptocurrency.

Ethereum could eventually surpass Bitcoin's market share in a similar manner to how US equities overtook gold 54 years ago, when the US abandoned the gold standard, according to BitMine chair Tom Lee.
