But the second problem with the code-is-law idea is more damning. While the model of regulation suggested here so far has been of a reactive system that arises to fill the need for authority, some political scientists — realists — view it the other way.

While the funding round marks a significant early win for Tempo—a layer-1 blockchain that will support payment processor Stripe's aggressive push into crypto—it was not the biggest news about the project that rocked Crypto Twitter on Friday.

A 2022 class-action lawsuit against Musk accused him of manipulating the price of DOGE through media appearances and social media posts.

Tempo has raised the funds in a Series A round that now values the project at $5 billion, according to a Friday report in Fortune. The round was reportedly co-led by venture firm Greenoaks and Joshua Kushner's Thrive Capital.

Google's experiment is verifiable, meaning that the same results can be obtained by running the experiment on any quantum computer system with the same technical specifications as the one the researchers used.
