Vitalik Buterin praises Polygon, Nailwal

Over the past seven days, Bitcoin's price has fallen 3.4% to $111,250. In the press release, Strategy said that it paid an average cost of $112,000 per Bitcoin last week, despite Bitcoin's recent fall. (The digital asset showed signs of rebounding on Monday.)

Buterin did, however, note that Polygon lacks a proof system to get the full security guarantees that Ethereum layer 2s are meant to provide in response to Nailwal's claim that Polygon isn't treated as such.

“From cinematic design to surreal architecture and cyberpunk storytelling, the gallery presents a curated selection of today’s most influential digital artists,” the organizers said in a statement.

If US equities sustain their recovery heading into earnings season, it could create favorable conditions for Bitcoin’s own upside revival. A renewed rally in tech and growth stocks, bolstered by easier monetary policy, might help extend “Uptober” optimism into a stronger finish for the month.

Miners have often had to sell coins or branch into different industries—like high-performance computing for artificial intelligence—to cover operational costs.
