Chart patterns are shapes formed by price movements that help traders anticipate future market trends. These patterns fall into two main categories: reversal patterns, which signal that a current trend may change direction, and continuation patterns, which suggest the trend will likely resume after a brief pause. They stem from market psychology, where emotions like fear, greed and uncertainty drive collective trading behavior and create recognizable shapes on charts.

Despite the mixed technical setup, retail traders appeared to be betting aggressively on further upside. Data from trading resource Hyblock Capital outlined Ether's True Retail Accounts (TRAs) long percentage has reached the 90th percentile, one of the highest levels across major crypto assets.
