The top banking regulator in the U.S. dismissed fears that stablecoins could trigger a sudden deposit crisis, urging community banks to view the digital assets as tools for competing with Wall Street giants rather than existential threats.

But here's where things get interesting: BNB has been riding a powerful parabolic support line since mid-year. The chart shows a clear parabolic advance—the kind that can deliver explosive gains but also tends to end with equally explosive corrections. Looking at the projection, if this trajectory continues uninterrupted, BNB could be trading near $2,000 by December 31, potentially delivering another 67% gain from current levels over the next 89 days.

Demand for spot Ethereum ETFs has also been decreasing, with these investment products posting outflows six out of the last eight days, data from SoSoValue showed.
