may be down 4.3% in October so far, but optimism around the month's historically bullish trend remains intact. Since 2019, Bitcoin's average October gain has been near 20%, with a median return of about 15%. While this year's performance currently lags, market participants are looking to macroeconomic policy shifts for potential fuel.

Musk is well known for pumping the value of O.G. meme coin Dogecoin with his comments, but his social media posts have also moved the needle for Floki in the past.

The earlier plan positioned the token as significantly underpriced relative to its fundamentals.

If the price breaks above resistance while funding spikes and OI balloons, treat the breakout as suspect until the level is retested and holds. After the initial pop, healthy signs include funding cooling off and OI rebuilding on the retest. If, instead, open interest unwinds and price slips back below the level, the breakout likely failed.

The increases come, despite miners ongoing struggles with rising energy costs and lower rewards. After last year's halving, the payoff for miners has fallen to 3.125 bitcoin, down from 6.250 previously.
