Grayscale has played a central role in the institutionalization of crypto. Founded in 2013, it has grown into one of the world’s largest digital asset investment platforms, managing over $35 billion in assets. It has now launched staking-enabled products that bring blockchain yield mechanics into Wall Street’s traditional framework.

The indicator has produced a bearish cross on the weekly chart, as shown in the figure below.

CoinShares said Monday that last Friday’s panic led to only $159 million in outflows, even as $20 billion in positions were liquidated across exchanges. The resilience helped push total inflows for 2025 to $48.7 billion, already surpassing last year’s total.

Countries like Japan and the UAE are creating regulatory frameworks, he added, while India, Hong Kong and Australia “need to openly support such innovations."

But CJ Burnett, chief revenue officer at Compass Mining, told Decrypt that the company believed that the environment was favorable for remaining focused on mining.

Launched by Grayscale Investments, one of the largest digital asset managers, this staking-enabled exchange-traded product (ETP) signals a new phase in crypto’s maturation and integration with traditional finance. It’s more than a fund; it’s a bridge providing traditional investors a regulated pathway to tap into the growth potential of crypto staking.
