The introduction of Google's AI summaries has raised huge red flags for web publishers, however, as users are less likely to visit their sites if the information is extracted and provided up front. The issue is compounded by AI's tendency to hallucinate, and even provide dangerous answers based on flawed sources.

In an Instagram post, Van der Velden defended Norwood as a creative experiment rather than a threat, likening the project to animation, puppetry, and CGI. "I see AI not as a replacement for people, but as a new tool, a new paintbrush," she wrote.
