Digital wallets are essential tools for entering the blockchain world. They are not only used to store cryptocurrencies but also to manage users' digital identities and interact with DApps. According to different storage methods, digital wallets can be divided into hardware wallets, software wallets, and paper wallets. Among them, hardware wallets have the highest security but are less convenient to use; software wallets (including desktop wallets, mobile wallets, and web wallets) are convenient to use but have relatively lower security. Choosing a suitable digital wallet requires balancing security and convenience according to individual needs and asset scale.

It's also easy to set up. Most major exchanges and wallets now offer recurring buy or "Auto-Invest" options: Just choose your coin, select a weekly or monthly schedule and let the orders run automatically.

Lee said that when that happened, "The immediate beneficiary was demand and a market to own gold."

Bitcoin's price recently stood at $108,200, down nearly 3% over the past day, according to crypto markets data provider CoinGecko. BTC hit a new high of $126,080 at the start of the month before tumbling last week as investors liquidated over $19 billion in crypto futures positions liquidated.
