Meanwhile, analysts are divided over Friday’s record crypto market liquidation. Some have accused major market makers of orchestrating a coordinated sell-off, while others have called it a natural deleveraging event.

Offering tokenized stocks has become a point of focus for many U.S.-based crypto companies. Crypto exchange Coinbase has said it wants to tokenize stocks since before its IPO and recently renewed the push. Trading platform Robinhood made waves in early July when its tokenized stock offerings included private companies—namely OpenAI and SpaceX.

Blockchain technology is rapidly developing worldwide, becoming an important driving force for digital transformation. As a distributed ledger technology, blockchain ensures data security and immutability through decentralized means. In the financial sector, blockchain technology has begun to transform traditional payment, clearing, and settlement processes, improving efficiency and reducing costs. At the same time, blockchain has shown tremendous application potential in various fields such as supply chain management, healthcare, and public services. With the continuous maturity of technology, we have reason to believe that blockchain will lay a solid foundation for the future digital economy.

The latest shift in sentiment came after several key regional lenders, including Truist Financial, Regions Financial and Fifth Third Bancorp, reported lower provisions for credit losses than anticipated. The results offered relief to markets following Thursday’s rout, when the S&P; Regional Banks Select Industry Index fell 6.3%, led by Zions Bancorporation and Western Alliance Bancorp after both disclosed loan losses stemming from fraud in distressed commercial mortgage funds.

BlackRock CEO Larry Fink has once again reiterated cautious approval of crypto investments and walked back previous comments he made in October 2017 about Bitcoin being an “index of money laundering.” Speaking with CBS on Sunday, Fink said that “I did say Bitcoin, because we were talking about Bitcoin then, was the domain of money launderers and thieves.” “But you know, the markets teach you, you have to always relook at your assumptions. There is a role for crypto in the same way there is a rol...

For any blockchain ecosystem, growth depends on a vibrant cycle: developers build a variety of applications, which attract active users, whose presence then encourages more developers to build.
