Commenting on the price action, CEA Industries CEO David Namdar told Cointelegraph that BNB was the “most overlooked blue-chip in the market,” and that the rally reflected the market catching up to the token’s fundamentals.

The pair’s Solana token pumped over 2,000%, and they later thanked the gym bro for slapping them.

As the first successful application of blockchain technology, cryptocurrencies have gone through more than ten years of development. From the initial Bitcoin to the current wide variety of tokens, the cryptocurrency market has experienced multiple booms and busts. Nevertheless, the ideas of decentralization and disintermediation represented by cryptocurrencies are profoundly influencing the traditional financial system. More and more institutional investors are beginning to pay attention to and participate in the cryptocurrency market, and governments of various countries are also actively exploring regulatory frameworks for cryptocurrencies to promote their healthy development.

“I think that most fiat currencies, especially those with large debts, will have problems being effective storeholds of wealth and will go down in value relative to hard currencies,” he said, pointing to parallels between the coming years and two periods in the 20th century.
