If approved, the proposal will proceed through the Aave Request for Comment (ARFC) stage for community feedback, followed by a Snapshot vote and final onchain governance confirmation. Unlike short-term market interventions, the proposal aims to institutionalize buybacks as a recurring mechanism, essentially making the DAO an active capital allocator.

“The shift is driven by the convenience and significant tax benefits offered by ETFs, as well as the ability for major investors to manage their wealth through existing financial advisers and access broader investment/lending services,” Hiesboeck said.

To address these concerns, OpenAI said publishers will be able to adopt different strategies when dealing with its search engine and its AI chatbot.

Cross-border payment is one of the important application scenarios of blockchain technology. The traditional cross-border payment process is complex, involving multiple intermediaries, with long settlement time and high fees. In contrast, cross-border payments based on blockchain technology can realize direct peer-to-peer transactions, greatly simplifying the process, shortening settlement time, and reducing costs. Currently, several countries and financial institutions have begun to try using blockchain technology for cross-border payments. With the continuous maturity of technology and the improvement of regulatory frameworks, blockchain cross-border payments are expected to become the mainstream cross-border payment method in the future.

Price pushes through a well-watched level on weak or average volume, shows little follow-through, and the next candle closes back inside the prior range.

Bitcoin could reach a new all-time high as soon as next week and keep climbing to $135,000, Standard Chartered's Global Head of Digital Assets Research said in a new note shared with Decrypt. Yesterday Bitcoin soared above $121,000, keeping stride with a Q4 pattern that’s been coined “Uptober.” Early Friday morning BTC was trading for around $120,420, 1.3% higher than this time yesterday, according to data from crypto price aggregator CoinGecko. Although BTC looks to be keeping its Uptober trad...
