A quick push below support (often just a wick), followed by an aggressive reclaim and a strong close back inside the range.

Catching a coin's name trending on X or in a Telegram chat isn't enough to justify putting capital at risk. Social buzz moves fast, and most spikes fade before price action catches up, or worse, they might be the result of coordinated shilling. That's why the next step is to turn raw noise into structured signals you can actually rank and compare.
