Funding (perpetuals): Perpetual futures don't expire, so exchanges use periodic funding payments between longs and shorts to keep prices aligned with the spot market. When funding turns strongly positive, longs pay shorts — typically a sign of crowded long positioning. Deeply negative funding indicates the opposite: crowded shorts. Extreme readings often precede mean-reverting moves.

Lubin's comments come shortly after the departure of two key Ethereum researchers, which caused renewed concerns over the potential influence of centralized funds over Ethereum's development.

"Dollar dominance by the end of that period went from 27% in GDP terms but to 57% of central bank reserves, and 80% of financial transactions, quotes," he said, adding:

Meanwhile, a new variant of XCSSET has emerged that can take screenshots, record what a user is doing, and steal data from their Telegram account.

It also means there is more mining activity on the network as miners expand their operations and use more machines—and power—to continue minting coins.
