The company's stock tokens mirror the prices of publicly traded US securities but don't represent direct ownership of the underlying shares. Instead, they are structured as blockchain-based derivatives regulated under MiFID II (Markets in Financial Instruments Directive II), according to the company.

"Thank you so much for slapping me, bro. You made a lot of our guys money, bro," the slapped creator said, now with a buzzcut.

The team promised that Ondo will do for securities what stablecoins have done for dollars, making the tokenized assets tradeable outside of typical market hours and available worldwide.
