Click to verify

New grad nurse resume template

Creating a New Grad Nursing Resume: Tips and Examples Congratulations on completing your nursing degree! Now, it's time to focus on securing your first job as a nurse. A well-crafted resume is essential in this process. This article will guide you through the process of creating a professional new grad nursing resume that will surely impress potential employers. A new grad nursing resume highlights college clinical and academic experience, personal traits, and any relevant medical background. Previous work experiences, such as being a nurse's aide or candy striper, can also be included to showcase a positive work ethic. **Key Takeaways:** * Focus on college clinical and academic information for your first nursing job * Include relevant nurse-related positions, such as working as a nurse's aide or private duty job * Highlight attributes that potential employers find desirable in new nurses * Use a well-structured resume to visually showcase your qualifications **Tips for New Grad Nurses:** * Tailor your resume to the specific job you're applying for * Use keywords from the job description to help your resume pass through applicant tracking systems (ATS) * Quantify your experience and skills wherever possible * Keep your resume concise and easy to read Applying for new grad nursing positions can be challenging due to the high competition in the field. However, recent graduates with fresh skills and concepts have an advantage if they showcase these strengths on their resume. To increase chances of landing out from the crowd requires demonstrating a balance of enthusiasm, adaptability, and expertise. Recent grad RNs are encouraged to focus on the areas they can bring new ideas to, while also showcasing their ability to learn and work as part of a team. A quality resume serves as the first step towards securing an interview, making it crucial for nursing students to put in the effort to create a compelling document that highlights their skills and experiences. For those seeking pediatric nurse positions at Penn State Health, the following example may be useful: Dedicated and enthusiastic new graduate RN with experience in pediatrics is looking for a position where they can apply their skills and passion. Bringing a professional demeanor, calmness under pressure, and team spirit, this candidate is eager to learn and contribute to the healthcare team. New graduate seeking pediatric nurse position, with diverse experience in medical-surgical units and community settings. Successfully completed 100 hours of med-surg clinical hours, providing basic nursing care to adult patients and administering services to seniors and disabled individuals. Gained hands-on experience as a certified nurses aid, assisting with daily living activities for nursing facility residents. • Earned a degree from the University of Alabama, Montgomery, with a BSN in December 2021 and graduated second in nursing class with a 3.96 GPA. • Completed 90 hours of critical care clinical hours, evaluated at 99% by instructors for competence in critical care skills. • Selected to work on Covid and burn units, as well as special cases, consistently by staff and clinical instructors. • Gained experience working on psychiatric units, outpatient clinics, and med-surg units, with a focus on critical care skills. • Possesses ACLS and BLS certifications through the American Heart Association, current until April 2024. • Strong academic record, including a 3.96 GPA and four 4.0s in clinical rotations. • Recognized for leadership abilities and exceptional work ethic, dedicated to advancing nursing profession. New Grad Registered Nurse with exceptional skills in critical care, pediatrics, and obstetrics seeks position at Silvan Heights Medical Center. Proven clinical excellence through completion of over 400 hours of clinical rotations in CCU, ER, ICU, CCU, med-surg units, and psychiatric hospitals. Given article text here • Developed and implemented nursing care plans on a daily basis for 2-4 patients. • Gained 75 hours of pediatric clinical experience through rotations. • Spent time working on the pediatric burn units. • Accumulated 90 hours of critical care clinical hours. • Completed a rotation in a state prison's psychiatric unit, where I assessed patients and developed individualized treatment plans. • Worked on the obstetrics unit, where I completed 60 hours of outpatient rotations and achieved 100% on clinical skills testing. • Created educational resources for new mothers, including a pre- and post-natal teaching guide and support reference materials. 1. Hospital, Syracuse, NY 1/2021-4/2021 - Performed patient care duties on a women's health unit with 50 beds. - Completed 75 clinical hours in obstetrics. 2. Mercy Hospital, Syracuse, NY 9/2020-11/2020 - Provided patient care duties on a pediatric unit with 20 beds. - Developed nursing care plans for 2-4 patients per week. - Rotated onto the pediatric oncology unit to care for oncology patients. 3. Mercy Hospital, Syracuse, NY 1/2020-5/2020 - Provided nursing care in ER, ICU, and CCU units. - Completed 96 hours of critical hours at a detox facility with 40 beds. - Assisted with mental health treatment plans for patients. 5. Home Health Services of Saratoga Springs, NY 9/2019-10/2019 - Completed outpatient hours caring for adults and children with cancer. 6. Med-Surg and Rehab Unit, Mercy Hospital, Syracuse, NY 1/2019-5/2019 - Performed basic nursing care on a community hospital unit. - Completed med-surg clinical hours. 7. Certified Nurse Assistant Oncology Unit, Ilion Hospital, Ilion, NY 5/2019-Present - Provided comfort and Extra-curricular Activities - Served as a companion to a friend with cancer. - Division III university softball player. As a nursing student, I gained hands-on experience in various settings. At the Childbirth Center of Tampa from May 2021, I provided patient care for new mothers and their babies on a 30-bed unit, completed prenatal care at the women's health. In the Tampa General Pediatric Unit from September to November 2020, I worked with patients on a busy 38-bed pediatric unit, created nursing care plans for up to three patients weekly, and completed 75 hours of clinical time. Additionally, I worked on the Psychiatric Unit at Tampa General from October to December 2019, completing 30 psychiatric clinical hours, conducting evaluations, developing treatment plans, and assisting with detox and substance abuse therapy. My experience in the Teen Wellness Center from September to October 2019 involved working with atrisk youth, holding group sessions for abused teens, and providing individual counseling. I also worked on the Med-Surg Unit at Tampa General Hospital from January to May 2019, completing 100 hours of med-surg clinical time. Apart from my nursing experience, I have a strong commitment to helping others through volunteering with organizations such as the Boys Club of Clearwater, Paxton Ministries Soup Kitchen, and Special Olympics. Given article text here Informative new grad RN resume is a must-have in a traditional layout. With numerous templates available, it's essential to follow standard rules for format, regardless of the chosen template. The recommended guidelines include: -Your name and contact information at the top - Easy-to-read fonts such as New Times Roman, Arial, or Calibri - Font size 11 or 12 - Consistency in fonts and style types - Being concise - Avoiding abbreviations and slang Next comes the summary or objective section, which should be personalized for the registered nurse position sought. It's crucial to tailor this section to the particular job and institution where you apply, making it a noteworthy and brief overview of your qualifications. An effective new grad nursing resume objective should include: - Professional certifications The licenses and credentialing section is typically placed first, including: - The full name of your license or certification - Institution or body that issued the license As a new grad nurse, education is another significant section. While it's essential to list each college attended, even if it was not for your nursing degree, the key information should include: Official school name - Location of the school - Dates attended or graduated - Degree completed Clinical rotation: - Type of clinical rotation: - Type of clinical rotation - Dates and total hours completed - Name of institution (and city/state) - Name of unit worked on As a new grad nurse, highlight your patient type, hospital unit details, and grade (if exemplary) in this section. Include any relevant work experience, even if it's not directly healthcare-related. Showcase your skills and abilities, such as problem-solving and leadership, which are valuable for a successful nurse. List each job with position held, company/organization, city/state, start/end dates, and a brief description. As a nursing student, I was an average achiever, but my roommate was exceptional and excelled in academics. Despite her impressive credentials, she didn't participate in volunteer or college activities. In contrast, I was the vice-president of the student nurse's association and actively involved in campus and volunteer work. Both of us were hired quickly at our hospital of choice due to our unique strengths. The key takeaway is that highlighting your strengths on your resume is crucial. Create a separate section for "Additional Skills or Information" to showcase your skills, just like I did with my extensive list of volunteer and work activities. Emphasize your best qualities, especially if you're a bilingual nurse. Even basic language skills can be valuable. As a new grad nursing student, your resume should be concise and fit on one page. Use font size 11 or 12 to adjust the content and make sure it's visually appealing. Don't forget to tailor your objective and qualifications to the specific job you're applying for. For example, if you're applying for a pediatric unit position, highlight your experience as a parent. Remember, nursing employers look for different personalities and traits for each position, so focus on showcasing your strengths and relevant skills. Obtaining pediatric experience through babysitting several medically fragile children while in college provided me with a solid foundation for nursing success, despite lacking direct pediatric nursing experience. When crafting a new graduate nursing resume, it's essential to refine the initial draft by seeking feedback from experts and proofreading tools like Grammarly and Microsoft editor. A wellcrafted resume should showcase not only work-related skills but also highlight personal qualities, volunteer work, and passions that make you a valuable commodity as a nurse. Be cautious of modesty, as downplaying your achievements in a concise manner to create a unique and compelling resume that showcases your potential as a graduate nurse. Note: I applied the "INCREASE BURSTINESS" (IB) rewriting method to the original text, aiming to enhance readability and interest by adjusting pacing and detail level while maintaining the core message. As a new grad nurse, it's crucial to craft a standout resume that showcases your exceptional skills and experiences. When highlighting your achievements, remember to focus on what sets you apart from your peers. Tailor your resume for each position you apply to by revising the objective/summary section to better fit the job requirements. Don't underestimate the importance of proofreading - have multiple people review your resume is key to securing an interview and ultimately landing a desirable nursing position. A poorly written resume can be detrimental to your chances of employers preconceived notions about your abilities. By creating a vivid and alluring picture of yourself as a competent nurse, you increase your chances of success in the job market. Remember that a strong resume is essential for negotiating better pay and benefits - without one, you may be offered only the standard positions. To create an exceptional new grad nursing resume, refer to the six best examples provided in this article. These examples will help you formulate your own ideas on what makes you stand out from other applicants. Don't wait until after graduation or RN licensure to start writing your resume - begin working on it well ahead of time and capture positive feedback and unique experiences throughout your clinicals. No need for multiple resumes, just tailor yours to each job application. Tailor keywords from objective or summary section to match specific employer's needs and requirements. Highlight relevant skills and experience or education. Clinical rotation information is crucial in a new grad nurse resume. Include preceptorship to demonstrate hands-on training and learning capacity. A nursing license number, with a spiration date, should be included on the resume. Aim for one full page, with 350-400 words. Break down the writing process into smaller steps: draft content, select template, fill in essential information, tweak, proofread, and seek input from others. A professional resume takes time, so don't rush it. Choose a concise format that highlights your best attributes. Tailor keywords to fit the job you're applying for, focusing on passion, capacity, and willingness to learn and adapt. Investing in a professional new grad nurse resume can be a worthwhile investment for your future career. Consider hiring someone experienced in resume preparation or using tried-and-true templates to create a top-notch document. Online apps and tools like Resume Nerd and Zety offer simple approaches to create a top-notch document. Online apps and tools like Resume Nerd and Zety offer simple approaches to create a top-notch document. wondering what your next step is in securing a job. Preparing a professional resume is crucial in this process. To help you navigate this uncharted territory, we'll provide vital information and exceptional examples of new grad nursing resumes to guide you through the process. As a nurse with a strong background and passion for leadership, writing and organizational skills, I am excited to highlight my unique strengths and qualifications as a new graduate RN. While traditional resume strategies focus on showcasing academic and clinical information, my approach focuses on highlighting the attributes and experiences that set me apart from others in the field. By emphasizing my exemplary character, ability, and willingness to learn, I aim to outshine the competition and stand out as a top candidate for new nurse hires. With a Bachelors of Science in Nursing from Bloomsburg University, May 2021, I bring a fresh perspective and eagerness to learn to my first nursing position. As a dedicated, compassionate, and enthusiastic new graduate RN, I am excited to join Penn State Health as a pediatric nurse. With certifications in Advanced Cardiovascular Life Support (ACLS) and Basic Life Support (BLS), I am confident in my ability to provide high-quality patient care. Throughout my clinical rotations, including Obstetrics at Bloomsburg Hospital from 1/2021-4/2021 and Pediatric Unit at Berwick Hospital from 9/2020-12/2020, I have developed strong leadership skills, successfully leading student nurse rotations on two occasions. Additionally, I have honed my nursing care planning skills, successfully leading student nurse rotations on two occasions. Additionally, I have honed my nursing care planning skills, successfully leading student nurse rotations on two occasions. ICU, CCU) Harrisburg Hospital, Harrisburg, PA 1/2020-5/2020 • Provided nursing care in a busy inner-city setting, including ER, ICU, and CCU. Student NurseMed-Surg Units, Evangelical Community Hospital, Lewisburg, PA 1/2019-5/2019 • Performed basic nursing and Rehabilitation Center, Harrisburg, PA 5/19-Present • Provided basic hygiene and health aide services to residents in a 300-bed facility. Secretary to Bloomsburg University Department of NursingBloomsburg University, Bloomsburg University, Bloomsburg University, Bloomsburg University Department of NursingBloomsburg University, Bloomsburg University, Bloomsburg University Department of NursingBloomsburg University, Bloomsburg University, Bloomsburg University, Bloomsburg University Department of NursingBloomsburg University, Bloomsburg management, and insulin administration. WaitressUncle Johns Pancake House, Harrisburg, PA 5/2017-8/2018 • Assisted with customer service, food preparation, and restaurant operations in a fast-paced environment. Volunteer Work Nurse Diane is seeking a pediatric nurse position due to her passion for providing high-quality care to children. With experience in critical care, pediatrics, and med-surg units, she is confident in her ability to adapt to new situations and provide exceptional patient care. Her strong work ethic, combined with her education and training, make her an attractive candidate for a pediatric nurse position. Registered Nurse Aspiring to secure a position in the Cardiovascular Unit (CCU) at Geisinger Medical Center. Possess exceptional work ethic, eagerness to learn, and commitment to delivering high-quality patient care. Registered Nurse with active Alabama Board of Nursing certifications from the American Heart Association, valid through April 2024. Education: Bachelor of Science in Nursing, University of Alabama (December 2021) Clinical Experience: * Student NurseOutpatient Family Heath Center - Danville, Alabama: Completed 60 clinical hours rotating between urgent care and family health clinic. Confidently cared for patients under supervision. * Student NursePediatric Unit Geisinger Medical Center, Montgomery, Alabama: Performed patients daily. Completed 75 clinical hours in Pediatrics. * Student NurseCritical Care (ER, ICU, CCU) University Hospital, Montgomery, Alabama: Provided nursing care ER, ICU, and CCU. Evaluated at 100% by the instructor for competence in critical care skills. Team head for 3 out of 10-week rotation. Nurses on the unit commended my advanced knowledge of cardiovascular conditions. * Student NurseDanville Psychiatric Hospital, Danville, Alabama: Completed 30 psychiatric clinical hours at a 241-bed psychiatric hospital. Conducted psychiatric evaluations and instituted mental health treatment plans for 2 patients daily. * Student NurseObstetrics Unit, University Hospital, Montgomery, Alabama: Completed 60 outpatient hours rotating between units for women's health, labor and delivery, NICU, PICU, and newborn nursery. * Student NurseMed-Surg Units, University Hospital, Montgomery, Alabama: Performed basic nursing care on adults in a busy 600-bed hospital with 2-4 patients daily. Completed 100 hours total of med-surg clinical hours. Work Experience: Walmart Cashier, Montgomery, Alabama Awards and Honors: * Graduated first in nursing class with a 3.99 GPA * Received 4.0 in all clinical rotations * Sigma Theta Tau Nursing Honor Society * Future Nurse Leader Award * School of Nursing Undergraduate Student Award Contact Information: 1019 Spring Haven Trail, Jersey City, NJ 07304 Tel# 123-123-1234 lizzie@nursingprocess.org Given article text here RN seeking position in obstetrics at Silvan Heights Medical Center. Experienced RN with strong multitasking and teaching abilities, bringing innovative ideas and a compassionate approach to patient care. Registered Nurse licensed by New Jersey Board of Nursing until August 2024, with current ACLS and BLS certifications through American Heart Association Education: - Bachelor of Science in Nursing from East Stroud University (May 2021) - Completed clinical hours in various settings, including home health services, pediatric units, critical care, psychiatric unit, and obstetrics. Work Experience: * Swim Instructor and Lifeguard at Halite Aquatic Club (5/2017-Present) - Demonstrated strong organizational skills while juggling academic and extracurricular responsibilities. - Graduated top of nursing class with a 3.95 GPA, receiving multiple awards for academic excellence. * Student Nurse: + Home Health Services (1/2021-5/2021) - Gained experience in prenatal and postnatal care. - Developed instructional videos on breastfeeding and bathing. + Pediatric Unit (9/2020-11/2020) - Performed patient care duties on a busy unit. - Completed 75 clinical hours in Pediatrics. + Critical Care Unit (1/2020-5/2020) - Provided nursing care in ER, ICU, CCU, and adult burn unit. - Completed 90 hours of critical care clinical hours. + Psychiatric Unit (1/2019-12/2019) - Completed psychiatric evaluations and instituted mental health treatment plans. + Obstetrics Unit (9/2019-10/2019) - Completed outpatient hours rotating between units for women's health, labor and delivery, and newborn nursery. - Achieved 100% on clinical skills and knowledge testing. + Med-Surg Unit (1/2019-5/2019) - Performed basic adult nursing care in a busy hospital with 2-4 patients daily. Lynn, a compassionate and diligent registered nurse, is seeking an oncology position at Marymount Hospital. With extensive experience in oncology, pediatrics, critical care, and rehabilitation, Lynn is well-equipped to make a positive impact on patients with cancer and their families. Lynn's enthusiasm for nursing is evident throughout her experience. As a certified nursing assistant (CNA) on an oncology unit and by assistant maintaining a high level of proficiency in nursing content. 123-123-1234 | paul@nursingprocess.org Florida licensed registered nurse with a minor in psychological needs, ensuring their overall well-being. Given text here **John is well-suited for a career as a psychiatric nurse due to his impressive clinical results and rotation experience. His commitment to helping those in need, particularly vulnerable populations such as youth and individuals with special needs, demonstrates a natural ability to provide compassionate care. A strong passion for psychiatric nursing, fueled by additional coursework in psychology, will serve him well in securing a position in this specialty area.** Given article text here **For New Grad RNs: Highlighting Clinical Rotations and Volunteer Experience in Your Resume** Newly qualified Registered Nurses (RNs) face skepticism about their clinical skills and expertise due to limited hands-on experience. To overcome this, it's essential to showcase your training, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic when placements were interrupted. **Clinical Rotations:** Include details about each rotation, such as: * Type of rotation * Dates and total hours completed * Name of institution (city/state) and unit worked on * Patient type or noteworthy hospital/unit information * Grade (if exemplary) Highlighting your clinical exposure is crucial for new grad RNs. **Work Experience:** List all relevant jobs, including non-healthcare positions. Emphasize transferable skills like: * People skills * Problem-solving * Leadership Follow the same format as your work history section. **Volunteerism: ** Include notable volunteer positions and activities under their own heading. This showcases your compassionate nature and altruistic side. Use a similar format to your work experience section, including: * Position held * Organization/Company name (city/state) * Dates of involvement Don't forget to include high school and college volunteer activities. **Examples:** Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples of volunteer participation on a new grad RN resume might include: * Church bake sales * Nursery work * Chicken BBQ worker * Some examples * Some example * S competitive job market. This section is an opportunity to showcase why you're exceptional, both academically and personally. Highlighting your achievements will demonstrate that you have a unique edge over other new graduates. Consider using bullet points to display your honors effectively. When it comes to including GPA on your resume, there are mixed opinions. Since future employers may request transcripts, some experts recommend highlighting an excellent GPA if you're at the top of your class. However, if you took a remarkable course or studied abroad, consider mentioning it in this section or creating a separate category for additional skills. As a nursing student, I was consistent but not exceptional academically. In contrast, my roommate excelled and was involved in several campus activities. We both secured jobs at our preferred hospitals, but we highlighted different strengths on our resumes. The key takeaway is to showcase your unique qualities and qualifications. This section can be displayed effectively using bullet points. Don't forget to include any language skills you have, even if it's basic proficiency. Bilingual nurses are highly sought after, so don't underestimate the value of this skill. Keep in mind that a new grad RN resume should only be one page long, and experiment with font sizes to fit your content within that limit. Aim for 11 or 12-point font size to ensure your resume looks complete and impressive. then refined my draft by focusing only on the most relevant details. I also opted for an 11-point font instead of 12 to make the content more visually appealing and concise. Although you may not have direct nursing experience, you likely possess transferable skills and classroom knowledge that can be highlighted to tailor your resume to the job at hand. Start by personalizing your objective as a nurse (as outlined above) and then build upon your resume. For instance, I highlighted my pediatric nursing experience in a hospital setting, as well as my babysitting experience with medically fragile children while in college. Although I didn't have direct pediatric nursing experience, I had developed some essential skills that could translate to success on that job. Once you have a solid draft of your new grad RN resume, it's time to proofread. Review the tips above and compare them to expert examples of resumes. Have a trusted friend or experienced writer review your draft for grammar and content feedback. Use grammar-checking tools like Grammarly and Microsoft Editor to ensure error-free writing. Avoid making common mistakes that can sink your resume to the bottom of the pile. Instead, showcase all your positive traits, whether work-related, school-related, or from personal experiences. You are a valuable asset as a nurse, and highlighting these non-work related skills will make you stand out. As I reflect on my past experience, one C-grade I received stands out - it was solely due to my own self-doubt about showcasing my abilities. This incident taught me a valuable lesson: sometimes you need to assert yourself and highlight your accomplishments and strengths. When job hunting as a new nurse, emphasizing your skills and expertise is crucial for securing a position. Excessive modesty can be detrimental in this context, making it essential to strike the right balance. A well-crafted resume should avoid unnecessary verbosity and focus on concisely conveying your value proposition. It's not enough to simply follow generic templates; instead, use your words to paint a vivid picture of who you are and why you're the ideal candidate for the role. When tailoring your resume to each position, remember to highlight unique accomplishments that set you apart from others. Before submitting your application, always proofread your work multiple times - it's better to have a trusted colleague or mentor review, so invest the time and effort necessary to create a compelling document that showcases your skills and potential. By doing so, you'll increase your odds of securing a job offer and negotiating better pay and benefits. As you prepare for your new grad RN job search, it's essential to craft a standout resume that showcases your education, work experience, and relevant skills. A well-structured resume that showcases your education, work experience, and relevant skills. resume to the specific position you're applying for by highlighting relevant keywords and experiences. While some countries may prefer a Curriculum Vitae (CV), in the US, nursing positions typically require a concise resume. As a new grad RN, it's best to start writing your resume ahead of time, even before graduation, and make adjustments as needed. Don't worry about creating separate resumes for each job application - simply tweak your existing resume to fit the position. New grad nurse resumes should be straightforward and easy to follow, with an emphasis on highlighting your unique experiences, skills, and achievements. Consider including relevant coursework, clinical rotations, or volunteer work that demonstrates your capabilities as a nurse. Remember to update your resume regularly as you gain more experience, education, or other essential details. Writing a professional and captivating resume takes time and effort, but breaking down the process into smaller steps can make it more manageable. Start by writing a rough draft of your content, then select a template to follow. Fill in your essential information, tweak it to highlight your best attributes, and proofread carefully before seeking feedback from others. When crafting your enthusiasm for the position. For new grad nurses, this means highlighting their passion, eagerness to learn, and ability to adapt. Include essential details such as your nursing license information, clinical rotation experience, and preceptorship in your resume. While some sources recommend leaving out your license number, others suggest including it. Consider seeking professional help from a resume writer or using online tools and templates to ensure a top-notch new grad nurse resume that showcases your skills and experience.