XAI's Grok 4 managed to accurately time the market's local bottom before the recovery rally.

The relative strength index is still below the 50 mark, suggesting that market conditions still favor the downside.

The shift shows that while investors expect the market to remain contained, they are hedging against the risk of a sudden drop.

Lately, however, that decision has moved from tactical to strategic. Beyond developers deciding between ecosystems, big companies are now building their blockchains from scratch. And when the companies doing it are Stripe, Coinbase or other giants with deep regulatory and distribution advantages, the L1 stops being a neutral playing field and starts looking like a moat.

The next bear market “will be defined by another cycle people forget about,” said Woo on Monday.

Unlike previous rallies, this one is expected to be driven by long-term investors seeking portfolio stability, rather than short-term speculation.
