Bitcoin’s spot demand has been contracting over the past week, signaling a waning of retail interest, according to data from CryptoQuant.

“Fast forward a few years: Corporate chains will end up with the complex tech but without the added value for users, which is no central entity to control them. At that point, these chains will lose the focus from corporates.”

The rise of NFTs (Non-Fungible Tokens) has brought revolutionary changes to digital content creation and trading. Based on blockchain technology, NFTs ensure the uniqueness and immutability of digital assets, solving the problem of digital content being easily copied. NFTs have a very wide range of application scenarios, including digital art, game items, virtual real estate, music works, etc. The rapid development of the NFT market has attracted the participation of many artists, collectors, and investors, and has also provided creators with new monetization channels. Although there are risks of speculation and bubbles in the NFT market, in the long run, NFTs will inject new vitality into the development of the digital economy.

However, the catastrophic losses of models like Gemini highlight the significant risks that make financial institutions wary. A primary concern is the "black box" nature of these systems, where the reasoning behind a trade is often opaque and unexplainable. This lack of transparency is a major hurdle for regulatory compliance and risk management, as establishing trust in a model's decisions is a critical and ongoing effort.

Federal Reserve staff is currently exploring the idea of issuing “skinny” master accounts on a streamlined timeline to institutions that haven’t yet managed to secure full-fledged ones, Fed Governor Christopher Waller announced Tuesday at a conference in Washington.

“Ondo tokenized stocks are fully backed and secured by U.S. stocks and ETFs held at one or more U.S.-registered broker-dealers and cash in transit,” the company said in its announcement. The blog post itself isn’t accessible to users in the U.S. without a VPN to bypass geofencing.
