Bitcoin has broken above $125,000 for the first time in its 17-year history.

The Average Directional Index, or ADX, sits at 33, well above the critical 25 threshold that confirms a strong trending market. Think of ADX as your “trend strength meter”—it doesn’t care about direction, just whether a real trend exists. Below 20, you’re in choppy waters where false breakouts are common. Above 25, you’ve got momentum. At 33, BNB is firmly in trending territory, meaning institutions and retail are moving in the same direction, creating sustained buying pressure that can carry prices significantly higher.

Hash computations—or hashing—is the process of turning data into a fixed-length string of characters. It’s needed to do things on the Bitcoin network, like creating private keys so users can make transactions.
