“ETF flows will be decisive,” Maartunn said. “As long as strong new inflows are lacking, I don’t expect anything spectacular. Demand needs to pick up, otherwise there’s a risk that new holders may add selling pressure—either if their average purchase price comes under strain, or simply because too little is happening.”

As “creator capital markets” advocates hailed the stunt as a raging success, others pushed back. One X commenter said, “This could easily be a bad thing. We don’t need more harassment, we need more quality content.”

Meanwhile, analysts are divided over Friday’s record crypto market liquidation. Some have accused major market makers of orchestrating a coordinated sell-off, while others have called it a natural deleveraging event.

The measured target from the flagpole’s height comes to be around $3,120, about a 20% drop from the current price.
