A bull trap happens when the price pokes above resistance and then reverses, while a bear trap occurs when the price dips below support and quickly snaps back. These fake breakouts often result from forced liquidations and mean reversion, clearing out crowded positions.

Grayscale's introduction of staking-enabled funds marks a key milestone shaped by evolving oversight and growing market competition. The US Securities and Exchange Commission issued guidance for crypto ETPs in May 2025, clarifying that certain custodial staking activities may operate within existing securities laws when managed through regulated custodians and transparent structures. This development has eased earlier barriers that prevented ETFs from earning onchain rewards.

Australian self-managed retirement funds held A$3.02 billion (US$1.9 billion) in cryptocurrencies at the end of June, but fresh data suggest they largely sat out this year's digital-asset rally.

Price pushes through a well-watched level on weak or average volume, shows little follow-through, and the next candle closes back inside the prior range.

Shortly after the comment was made, however, another X user pressed Dorsey on his own financial commitment to the cause of protecting Bitcoin developers, questioning how much he had donated.

But not this time. Analysts at the British multinational bank Standard Chartered, who have long been bullish on Bitcoin, don't think it stops here either. Geoff Kendrick, the bank's global head of digital assets, said in an investor note published Friday that he expects the price of Bitcoin to reach at least $135,000 in the near term and top $200,000 before the end of the year.
