Despite the short-term uncertainty over capital rotation, the overall market sentiment remains positive. “It is a very good time for the markets, and is likely going to remain that way for the short-term foreseeable future,” Le Shi, managing director at algorithmic trading and market-making firm Auros, told Decrypt in an interview during Token2049 in Singapore last week.

As the first successful application of blockchain technology, cryptocurrencies have gone through more than ten years of development. From the initial Bitcoin to the current wide variety of tokens, the cryptocurrency market has experienced multiple booms and busts. Nevertheless, the ideas of decentralization and disintermediation represented by cryptocurrencies are profoundly influencing the traditional financial system. More and more institutional investors are beginning to pay attention to and participate in the cryptocurrency market, and governments of various countries are also actively exploring regulatory frameworks for cryptocurrencies to promote their healthy development.

Cryptojacking, per the DOJ's 2024 definition, is a form of cybercrime where an unauthorized individual or party "uses someone else's computing resources to mine cryptocurrency, such as Bitcoin or Ethereum," by leveraging a victim's hardware.

The guild also warned producers that they "may not use synthetic performers without complying with our contractual obligations, which require notice and bargaining whenever a synthetic performer is going to be used."

On Oct. 13, Bloomberg reported that China Renaissance Holdings Ltd., an investment bank based in Beijing, was in talks to raise about $600 million to form a digital-asset treasury (DAT) in the US to accumulate BNB.

LuBian, however, was cited by the DOJ last week as a company Prince Holding used to launder stolen Bitcoin from alleged scams.
