Nailwal cited a post from a former EF researcher Péter Szilágyi who shared an 18-month-old letter expressing his frustration with his old workplace, while Eric Conner, one of Ethereum’s earliest developers, left in January, citing concerns with Buterin’s leadership decisions.

THANK YOU, Gov Waller, for realizing the terrible mistake the Fed made in blocking payments-only banks from Fed master accounts, and re-opening the access rules the Fed enacted to keep @custodiabank out. The Fed told courts that such firms would put financial stability at risk…

The results could be sending a complex signal to Wall Street, as the two frontrunners represent two vastly different potential futures for artificial intelligence in finance. DeepSeek is reportedly backed by a Chinese quantitative hedge fund, suggesting its success may stem from specialized financial data and expert fine-tuning—an evolutionary step for today's data-driven firms.

Decentralized applications (DApps) are changing the way we interact with the Internet. Unlike traditional applications, DApps run on blockchain networks, do not rely on centralized servers, and feature decentralization, openness, and immutability. Currently, DApps are mainly concentrated in games, finance, social media, and other fields, providing users with brand new experiences. Although the development of DApps still faces challenges such as user experience, performance, and scalability, with the continuous advancement of technology, we believe that DApps will become an important part of the future Internet.

That said, Miller cautioned against making generalizations. "It's always a bit dangerous to try to extrapolate things like user intentions from the cold data of average wallet analysis," he said.

“Not liking this Ethereum weekly MACD cross to red after 22 weeks green,” said analyst CRYPTO Damus in a Tuesday post on X, adding that the last three times the bear cross occurred were followed by significant ETH price drops.
