In late 2022, the company disclosed it was among several firms affected by the collapse of FTX, with a portion of its assets trapped in the now defunct exchange.

He believes this outlook bodes well for a sustained rally through the year's end, noting that "historically, October through December are the most active and bullish months for Bitcoin."

Tempo is still in the works and will be a stablecoin and payments-focused L1 with Stripe essentially being in control of the network. Its ethos marks a stark contrast to Ethereum's decentralized and open-source nature, given that it will be a corporate-controlled chain.
