If you want to move from ad hoc trades to a repeatable system, you need to build structure into how you use Grok 4. Start with historical-news reaction backtests: Use Grok 4 to pull past X-sentiment spikes for the token and match them with price reaction windows (one hour, six hours, 24 hours). Export the pairs and run a backtest that simulates slippage and execution costs; if average slippage exceeds the expected edge, discard that signal type.

This isn't a zero-sum fight between corporate and permissionless chains. They'll likely complement each other. Corporate L1s will handle the compliant, large-volume flows that bring in conservative capital, while permissionless chains will keep pushing the boundaries, generating the innovation that the corporations will eventually adopt.

"These protections have already proven to be successful in addressing other types of non-consensual imagery, and we've now built the same capabilities for fake explicit images as well," Google said. "These efforts are designed to give people added peace of mind, especially if they're concerned about similar content about them popping up in the future."
