The November election will determine whether CalPERS continues its current approach of indirect crypto exposure or potentially opens discussions about direct digital asset investment.

While some market observers believe that the traditional crypto four-year cycle is about to be broken, analysts told Decrypt this week that they believe some traders are still following the classic rulebook—and selling due to the expectation of falling prices ahead. That cohort may be partly accounting for crypto's weekly decline, with Bitcoin dropping over 9%, Ethereum falling 6%, and XRP showing a 15% dive—with some altcoins down even worse. Crypto prices plunged last Friday following Presiden...
